

Losing Clementine: A Novel

by Ashley Ream

About the Book

At its heart, Losing Clementine explores the breaking and reforming of relationships within the storm of mental illness. It's about families – the kind you're born with and the kind you make. It's about love and sex and marriage and food – and it's really about art and the creative process. Losing Clementine is about a lot of things.

Discussion Guide

1. How do you feel about Clementine's decision to kill herself? Was she justified? Is there ever a justification?
2. Although not a cook herself, food plays a prominent role in Clementine's life. Do you see any correlation in what she eats and her mental state at different points in the book?
3. Why do you think Clementine slept with Richard in Tijuana? Why do you think Richard slept with Clementine?
4. Was Clementine justified in defacing Elaine's work?
5. Did the gallery deserve any blame for the knock-offs of Clementine's work?
6. A major theme in the book is the effect serious mental illness has on the patient's loved ones. Clementine was one of those loved ones while her mother was ill and then is the patient during the book. How do you think being on both sides of the issue affected Clementine's behavior?
7. Do you believe Clementine acted responsibly in the way she planned her death?
8. How do you feel about Clementine's relationship with her therapist? Do you believe this relationship played a part in her decision to stop treatment?

9. How do you feel about Clementine's decision to tell her friends she has cancer? Was it a kindness or was it cowardly?
10. How important to the book is the city of Los Angeles? Could the story have been set anywhere or did the city have an important role to play?
11. Richard wants to save Clementine and has wanted to throughout their relationship. How has this affected each of them?
12. Reflect on the art Clementine creates throughout the book – the perverted Americana scenes, the dying buffalo, the centaur figure. What symbolism do you see?
13. What do you think of Clementine's argument that art always belongs to the artist?
14. The three main art world professionals in the book are Clementine, Elaine Sacks and Carla – all women. Do you think gender plays a role in how they interact with one another?
15. What do you think about Jenny's reliance on Clementine? Does it change in the course of the story?
16. Clementine's father feels culpable in the deaths of her mother and sister. Is he?
17. Clementine spends most of the book attempting to disentangle herself from her responsibilities. How successful is she?
18. What do you think happens after the book ends?
