

The Lost Ones

by Sheena Kamal

About the Book

It begins with a phone call that Nora Watts has dreaded for 15 years --- since the day she gave her newborn daughter up for adoption. Bonnie has vanished. The police consider her a chronic runaway and aren't looking, leaving her desperate adoptive parents to reach out to her birth mother as a last hope.

A biracial product of the foster system, transient, homeless, scarred by a past filled with pain and violence, Nora knows intimately what happens to vulnerable girls on the streets. Caring despite herself, she sets out to find Bonnie with her only companion, her mutt Whisper, knowing she risks reopening wounds that have never really healed --- and plunging into the darkness with little to protect her but her instincts and a freakish ability to detect truth from lies.

The search uncovers a puzzling conspiracy that leads Nora on a harrowing journey of deception and violence, from the gloomy rain-soaked streets of Vancouver, to the icy white mountains of the Canadian interior, to the beautiful and dangerous island where she will face her most terrifying demon. All to save a girl she wishes had never been born.

Discussion Guide

1. Nora Watts is a survivor of violence who is trying to find a missing girl with whom she shares an irrevocable bond. How much of her tortured background informs her character as an adult? How does her own past impact her search?
2. How does Nora's past affect her relationships today, especially with men?
3. Were you surprised by the real reason behind Bonnie's disappearance and the connection to Nora's attack 15 years earlier?
4. When Brazuca suggests that Nora is really attracted to him and that they sleep together, she is taken aback. Do you think there is an attraction there, or does she see him more as her sponsor and protector?

5. Reporter Mike Starling discovers Nora after she was left for dead. Do you think his concern for Nora was genuine, or was he out for a “good story”?

6. What role does Whisper play in Nora’s life? What about Seb and Leo?

7. Is Nora’s sister, Lorelei, justified in her treatment of her? If she knew Nora was the “Mary” from Starling’s article, why didn’t she seek her out?

8. Why do you think Nora’s military career was short-lived? Do you think she suffers from PTSD?

9. “Vancouver. Some say it’s beautiful here, but they’ve never idled in the spaces that I call home. They’ve never been down to Hastings Street, filled with its needles and junkies. They’ve never considered the gray sky and the gray water for months on end as rain pours down in an unsuccessful attempt at cleansing.” How did the setting of Vancouver add to the atmosphere of the story?

10. When contemplating the mining of resources on the island, Nora comments, “People take more than they give; that’s just the nature of the human heart.” Do you agree?

11. Were you surprised that we never really got to see a reunion between Nora and Bonnie?

12. Author Sheena Kamal addresses an almost unknown segment of the population: “There’s a whole highway in the north of the province stained by the tears of indigenous girls and women who weren’t blond enough to matter, whose families are still looking for justice.... It is more like a cancer that has spread through every segment of Canada’s social and political systems...” Were you aware of this issue before reading the novel, and do you think the title is a nod to this problem?

13. The story takes place largely in Vancouver, B.C., and Kamal touches on the issues of immigration there. Are there any similarities to the issues ongoing in the U.S.?

14. What did you think of Kamal’s work as compared to other writers in the psychological thriller genre? Are there any comparisons?

15. Kamal has worked as a crime and investigative journalist researcher for film and TV. Would you see this book working as a movie or limited television series? Which actors and actresses would you cast in a filmed adaptation of THE LOST ONES?

Author Bio

Sheena Kamal holds an HBA in political science from the University of Toronto, and was awarded a TD Canada Trust scholarship for community leadership and activism around the issue of homelessness. Kamal has also worked as a crime and investigative journalism researcher for the film and television industry --- academic knowledge and experience that inspired her debut novel, THE LOST ONES. She lives in Vancouver, Canada.

The Lost Ones

by Sheena Kamal

Publication Date: June 26, 2018

Genres: Fiction, Psychological Suspense, Psychological Thriller, Suspense, Thriller

Paperback: 368 pages

Publisher: William Morrow Paperbacks

ISBN-10: 0062565974

ISBN-13: 9780062565976