About the Book

A love triangle, family obligations, and the rediscovery of joy in the face of grief, all set against the alluring backdrop of an English country estate. This breathtaking new novel from the New York Times bestselling author of THE HOUSE AT TYNEFORD is sure to strike a chord with fans of "Downton Abbey."

It's a terrible thing to covet your brother's girl . . .

New Year's Eve, Dorset, England, 1946. Candles flicker, a gramophone scratches out a tune as guests dance and sip champagne --- for one night Hartgrove Hall relives better days. Harry Fox-Talbot and his brothers have returned from World War II determined to save their once grand home from ruin. But the arrival of beautiful Jewish wartime singer Edie Rose tangles the threads of love and duty, and leads to a devastating betrayal.

Fifty years later, now a celebrated composer, Fox reels from the death of his adored wife, Edie. Until his connection with his four-year-old grandson --- a piano prodigy --- propels him back into life, and ultimately leads him to confront his past. An enthralling novel about love and treachery, joy after grief, and a man forced to ask: Is it ever too late to seek forgiveness?
